

Chancellor Beatty And Acting Principal Martin To Address Convocation

"Hail, Alma Mater" May Be Sung in Faster Tempo, But Students' Council Disapproves—Choral Society to Lead Singing During Graduate Procession—No Honorary Degrees—All Students Asked to Attend Founders' Day Ceremony.

ACTING PRINCIPAL

Dr. C. F. Martin, who will take Sir Arthur Currie's place at Fall Convocation today.

At a meeting of the Students' Executive Council last night it was decided that the Council did not approve of the proposal that "Hail, Alma Mater" the college hymn, be sung in faster time than has hitherto been the custom. It is unlikely therefore, that there will be any change in the tempo when the song is sung at the Fall Convocation today.

At the Fall Convocation of McGill University taking place today at 4 p.m. in Moyle Hall, Dr. E. W. Beatty, Chancellor of the University, will make a short speech to the students in addition to the regular Founders' Day Address to be given by the Acting Principal, Dr. C. F. Martin. Dr. Beatty is acting as Chairman.

Just before the main address, "Hail, Alma Mater" will be sung by the students in much faster time than has hitherto been the custom. It is felt that the University Anthem has been too much like a dirge in the past and that a quicker tempo is more suitable. The music for the song has been reset in a key two notes higher than before. In the McGill Song Book "Hail, Alma Mater" is set in the key of G. In the new form it is in the key of B flat.

While the procession is forming outside the students in the Hall, led by the Choral Society, will sing some of the old college favorites. Besides "James McGill" it is suggested that the songs might include one or two of the following: "The Animals Came in Two by Two" sung while the graduates come down the aisle; "Hop Along Sister Mary" and "Come and See the Hamburg Show".

The members of the Choral Society are to be stationed in the north-west corner of the Hall. The graduates are to be in the first rows of the centre section. Members of Convocation for whom seats cannot be provided on the platform will be seated immediately behind the graduates.

Graduates will assemble for the procession in the Students' Reading Room, while Members of Convocation will robe in the Faculty Room. The graduates and other Members of Convocation will be formed into the usual procession at the East End of the corridor, and will enter the Hall in the customary order, the Chancellor and the Acting Principal leading.

All students are urged to attend, and are expected to join heartily in the singing, remembering the experiment that is being tried in speeding up the official college song, "Hail, Alma Mater."

The following is a list of the candidates who will receive degrees at today's exercises, with the degree that they will receive and their home address:

Last Lecture On Church And Sacred Book

Bible Scholar Lectures on Sacramental Power of the Bible.

DOCTOR MOFFAT

Lecturer Tanked by Audience as Lecture Series Ends.

"The reading of the Bible is sacred—which means that the Bible, rightly studied in prayer and faith, has the means of bringing men into the living presence of God," said the Rev. Dr. James Moffat in his lecture on The Sacramental Power of the Bible at the Diocesan College last night.

In distinguishing between a congregation and an audience, Dr. Moffat claimed that men forget class distinction and intellectual differences in the common worship of God. He concluded by saying that the Bible was not only about God, but of God himself.

Dr. Moffat, who is Professor of Church History at the Union Theological Seminary in New York and translator of the Old and New Testaments, enjoys a reputation of being the foremost Bible scholar in English speaking lands today.

Last night's lecture, given before a large and appreciative audience, was the last of a series of three entitled "The Church and the Sacred Book". A vote of thanks was voted by Principal Abbot-Smith and seconded by Dr. Gordon.

Book Exchange Proves Popular

List of Books Now Available for Courses.

"Books received here from students show that many have never been opened," said L. C. Carroll when interviewed last night at the Students' Book Exchange. "This," continued Mr. Carroll, "may help to explain the shortage in upper year students, this session."

"Students would be well advised to secure textbooks now, which will be used in the second term," said the chief executive of the book exchange. "The professors will apply the necessary information regarding these books," he added.

All books may be obtained if students will call at the exchange at 2 o'clock. Texts not on the shelf may be brought in and will be placed on sale the next day. "It is well to be early, as the books are selling quickly," was the advice offered to prospective customers.

Those who have books in the exchange will receive payment in two weeks time when an inventory will be taken.

Library Opens For Engineers

Science Building Again Can Boast of Reading Room.

IN CLASSROOM

Books Had Been Temporarily Housed in Redpath Library Since 1922.

The science library in the Engineering Building, which has been closed for a number of years, is shortly to be re-opened. It was learned yesterday: Until about six years ago, the library was situated in one of the class rooms in the Engineering Building and was regularly available for the students in the faculty. Then, owing to a number of circumstances it became necessary to close the library and move the books to the Redpath Library.

Therefore the past six years or so any Science students wishing to consult engineering books have been obliged to go to the Redpath Library and hunt up the books. The inconvenience of this system has been increasingly felt, and for some time there has been a movement afoot to have the books returned to the Engineering Building under conditions which would obviate the difficulties which necessitated their removal in the first place.

Professor French, who is in charge of the committee which has been working on the question, reports that arrangements have now been concluded with the Redpath Library, and in a very short time the books will be returned to the Engineering Building.

The class room which was previously used and which is fitted up with shelves for the purpose will again be used as the library, and is today being closed in order that the necessary work may be completed with as little delay as possible.

One of the assistant librarians will be appointed to look after the Engineering Library, and some sort of system will be introduced which will enable the librarian to keep track of the books. Lack of such a system was one of the drawbacks of the old system, and it is expected that this will be entirely remedied.

Work is now going on under the supervision of the Committee and in the near future there will be some announcement of the opening of the reading room and library.

R.V.C. Debaters To Be Elected

Method of Election of Women Intercollegiate Debators to be Decided Upon.

As the result of a letter appearing in the McGill Daily last year criticizing the method of election of the women Intercollegiate Debaters, The Delta Sigma Society has decided to hold a meeting to decide among other things how the debaters are to be chosen.

Moreover, if it is the wish of those present at the meeting, the elections will be made at once. In this way it is hoped that all parties concerned will be satisfied with the results.

All women students are asked to give serious consideration to this matter; to consider candidates worthy of a place on the team and above all to come to the meeting prepared to air their views.

The Canadian Mercury New Literary Journal

THE CANADIAN MERCURY is the name of a new monthly journal of literature and opinion, which makes its appearance in Montreal on December first. The new journal, which has for its purpose the establishment of a magazine that will bring to the reading public of Canada the best in the field of literature, drama, art, politics, music, science and industry, will be edited by Leo Kennedy.

This announcement is of particular interest to the student body of McGill in view of the fact that this new literary monthly is an outgrowth of the old McGill Fortnightly Review, an independent journal published at McGill during 1926 and 1927. A. P. R. Goulbourn and J. Leon Edel, Provincial scholar at present in Paris, who were amongst the founders of the old McGill Fortnightly, are the London and Paris correspondents of The Canadian Mercury.

A. J. M. Smith and Allan Latham, old Fortnightly editors, and Dr. Felix Walter, one time editor of the Dilettante column in the Daily, are listed among the contributors.

The Canadian Mercury will be the first Canadian literary magazine to pay for its contributions.

Applicants For Rhodes Scholars

Candidates Being Sought for Famous Three Year Oxford Course.

OCTOBER 31st LAST DAY

Third and Fourth Year Graduate Students are Eligible.

It is announced that the Principal's Office that applications for the 1929 Rhodes Scholarship are sought by the Quebec Committee. Applications may be received not later than October 31st of this year. Forms may be had from the Registrar, Dr. J. A. Nicholson.

The Rhodes Scholarship for which McGill men are eligible is a stipend of £400 a year for three years, and the Scholarship is tenable only at Oxford University. According to the conditions, the candidate must have completed at least two college years at his university up to the year for which he is selected. This means in effect that applicants must, if they are not graduates, be at present in their third and fourth years. The age limit is defined as follows: "He must have passed his nineteenth birthday, but not have passed his twenty-fifth birthday on October 1st of the year for which he is selected."

The Rhodes Scholarship Selection Committee for Quebec will meet early in the coming December to choose the scholars who are to commence at Oxford in October, 1929. In choosing from among the applicants, the Committee are governed by the four clauses in the Will of Cecil Rhodes which are known as the Basis of Selection. They are as follows:

(1) Literary and scholastic ability and attainments.
(2) Qualities of manhood, truth, courage, devotion to duty, sympathy, kindness, unselfishness, and fellowship.

(3) Exhibition of moral force of character and of instincts to lead and to take an interest in his school-mates.

(4) Physical vigour, as shown by interest in outdoor sports or in other ways.

The first two of the clauses were considered by the Founder to be the most important. Poverty or wealth do not influence the choice. In the absence of any strong candidate, the Committee will make no appointment.

The member of the Quebec Committee to whom applications should be sent is Gilbert S. Stairs, Esq., K. C., Royal Trust Chambers, Montreal. The memorandum of the Committee setting forth the conditions in full will be posted on the University notice boards. It is hoped that all eligible students who consider themselves in some degree able to approach the high standards set for the Scholarship will apply before it is too late.

COMMERCE I AND II

Commerce II will hold class elections this morning at 10 o'clock after Accounting. Commerce Freshmen will be sold their green caps after Accounting I lecture.

Commerce will be subject to the same Freshmen Rules as Arts: No walking on sidewalks, uncovering for members of staff, etc.

First Council Meeting Was Held Yesterday

Fred Weldon, President of Union, Elected Vice-President of Students' Council.

FROSH INITIATION

Sopomore Years Free to Make their Own Regulations.

Fred Weldon, President of the Union was chosen as Vice-President of the Students' Council at the first meeting of the Council for the year, held last night. Business was run off in quick order, when matters that had been accumulating for the summer came up for decisions. It was decided to make a charge of 10 cents for the Students Directory this year, the books to be sold by the janitors of the various buildings. Those in charge of the Book Exchange, Philip Matthews and Lovell Carroll were highly commended for the excellent way in which things have been carried on, and congratulated for the success which has rewarded their efforts, business so far having been in excess of $600, it was reported.

In the matter of initiations it was considered that the sophomore years of the various faculties should be free to make their own regulations within limits set by the Council. Fred Weldon was appointed to act with the officers of the various sophomore years in regard to matters of initiations.

Repair bills for extensive repairs in the Union were approved, and the matters of the responsibilities that the Council would undertake in connection with the forthcoming Federated Charities campaign discussed. The full sympathy of the Council was with the campaign, and Allan Latham was appointed to undertake the work of organizing the students collections. He will work in close contact with Professor Simpson, who has been appointed by the General Committee of the Federated Charities to see to McGill subscriptions.

A letter was read from Jack Duckworth, Theology's representative on the Students' Council, resigning his position on that body owing to the fact that he is going to New York to study at the Union Theological Seminary there. Duckworth, McGill's representative on the National Federation of Canadian University Students, and during the summer raised over $500 for the Imperial Conference of Students which had been scheduled for the fall. Owing to difficulties that had arisen this conference had to be postponed, and following discussion as to what to do with the money which had been raised for this purpose, the Council decided that the donors of the money already collected should be approached as to their willingness to leave the money in a trust fund for the conference, which has now been arranged for next year.

It will be necessary for the Council to appoint another man as representative to the N.F.C.U.S., but it was felt that the matter should be left until the two members to the Council that must be elected from Medicine and Theology should be elected.

Film Education For Women

Miss Herriot Will Conduct Hygiene Course for Freshettes.

Commencing October 9, there will be shown every Wednesday and Thursday from 2 to 3 in room 105 of the R.V.C. a series of moving pictures and slides dealing with health subjects. All freshettes are required to attend these presentations. Any upperclass women who care to attend will be welcome. The series will last for about three weeks.

Regulations have always required that freshettes attend a short course of lectures in hygiene given by the head of the Department of Physical Education. Films and lectures are now being used universally in the teaching of hygiene. For this season Miss Herriot has decided to try out this system here. The slides will be rather more interesting than lectures only. Miss Herriot hopes that upperclass women will come out if they so desire.

OUTDOOR RIFLE CLUB

The club will meet at Strathcona Hall at nine o'clock Sunday morning, October 7, for practice shoot at Pointe-aux-Trembles range. Bring your own lunch. No connection with C.O.T.C. necessary. Every one interested invited. For information ask H. F. Helder, Meds 2, J. D. Spring, Meds 4, P. P. Foran, Law 2, J. A. Ogilvy, Science 2.

COLLEGE LIFE—OUR ADVENTURE

Everyone is now back at college, and getting into the routine of lectures, groups, clubs and social activities which make up that strange mixture of the trivial and the important which we call college life.

It would be well to think about our life here for a bit, and try to see it in a large way, for this college business is for each and every one of us a great adventure, one might say the greatest adventure of all time if we fully realized it. And when men and women do any piece of work in the spirit of adventure, they always make discoveries.

We belong to a select group of young men and women, some three thousand, who have been able to come apart from the world for a while, into this little busy corner of human society, to learn more about man and the world in which he lives. Perhaps, in a sense, we have something in common with the monks of the Middle Ages, going into their monasteries, to be apart, where they might think.

We are like the rest of society, and yet unlike it, in these two important ways. In the first place we are freed for the time being from the worry of grinding out a living, so that we have the leisure and peace of mind needful to study and criticism of the whole expanse of human life. The world as a whole is so busy making its living, that it has no time to think, and is content to follow blindly the traditions of the Past, or to make afresh the great discoveries of truth, beauty, and goodness, which is open to us.

Our little society is, or should be, in a more fluid state, than the big human society. It is claimed that we are here to search for the truth in all things, so we do not expect to meet the same conservatism and bigotry that is common outside. Can we not make this a field for experiments in living, then, a kind of testing laboratory for new types of friendship between men and women, better methods of co-operation than the rest of the world has known?

If experiments are worth anything, this one is worth much. The field of research need not be left entirely to the scientist, and although this is a new field, the joys of exploration are many.

CHIMES

Chimes are an old world institution of which we might well see far more on this side of the water. Within the past few years there has been a distinct awakening of interest in the beautiful bells, with the result that there are now on this continent, two of the finest sets of chimes in the world: the Victory carillon in the Parliament Buildings at Ottawa, and the huge affair in the Park Avenue Baptist Church, New York.

Around us here is French Quebec, with its unusually large number of churches of all denominations so that we are more fortunately situated in this respect than many other parts of the country. Almost every little country church has its bells and there are several quite good sets here in Montreal. Owing to the financial considerations, however, these are rarely very large, nor is the workmanship and tone generally of the best. The Park Avenue church mentioned before has a very wealthy congregation, headed by the Rockefeller family, and the Ottawa chimes were financed by the government. It is only institutions of this kind which can afford really good bells.

This old bug-bear money, is a good reason why we will in all probability not see a carillon at McGill for many years. With a gym, dormitories and various new facilities badly needed even now, and the problem becoming worse as time goes on, there will be little money left for these more decorative purposes. A start has been made with the bells to ring the hours in the Roddick Gates, and with these as a start, perhaps we too, will one day see our own chimes built up.

Chimes carry with them those sub-conscious associations which seem to suggest that air of tranquillity and old age that is such a noticeable feature of our buildings and campus. Imagine a lofty tower, say on the library, with the bells hailing the opening of another day, calling us to lunch, or warning of the approach of the close of day. And lastly, at Convocation, they would provide a last and most fitting touch, one more among the many pleasant recollections to carry away from McGill.

THE CANADIAN MERCURY

McGill students will read with pleasure the announcement in today's Daily of the appearance of The Canadian Mercury a new monthly journal of literature and opinion. The fact that this magazine had its early roots in the McGill Fortnightly, a magazine of literature published at the University some years ago, and that the men who edited the McGill paper are associated with this new venture, which intends to provide for the country a badly-needed journal of high literary standard, makes us feel that the University is assuming its proper function in training the future Litterateurs of Canada.

We wish The Canadian Mercury every success!

THE STUDENTS DIRECTORY

Students will have an opportunity of showing whether the Students Directory has become an indispensable adjunct of student life, following the decision of the Students Council yesterday, to charge ten cents for a copy of the book this year so as to partially defray the cost. Freddy Freshman hardly realises what the book will mean to him when he first gets it in his hands, but his older brother does, and to most of the students at McGill the book has achieved the settled place as something that has been and must always be.

In former years the book has been distributed free by the Council, the cost, which is naturally considerable, being borne by that body. It seems to us a wise move, now that the value of the Directory is proved, to make a charge for the book sufficient to at least pay part of the expense, and to use the money thus saved on matters that otherwise would have to be neglected.

There is absolutely no doubt, to our minds, but that the full number placed on sale will be quickly disposed of in a triumphant vindication of the popularity of the Directory.

College Comment

TO BALANCE THE SCALES

Having adjusted ourselves to the intricacies of our timetable, and having (some of us) become accustomed to the brilliant colour which blooms in the region of our Adam's apple, we have now to decide the important question, "What are we going to do at the university?"

Now it must be explained to the members of the first year that if you answer that question with the obvious "Study, of course," you will be considered mildly insane and will perhaps have to submit to examination by a psychiatrist. It is fashionable to come to college in search of a good time, or to play rugby, or because your people have always done it, but—to study—it simply isn't done.

Fortunately, however, both for you and for the hopes of the parents, teachers and friends who are expecting great things of you, you will have no desire to connect yourself with more than one or two of the societies which are already soliciting your interest. You will, moreover, have decided, long since, that you'll run the risk of being thought "queer," for you are quite sure that you came to college to study, and "That," you say firmly, "is what I am going to do!"—Varsity.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

In a large university where only a small percentage of the students participate in varsity and freshman athletics, some other form of exercise is highly expedient. Were it not for gym classes, most freshmen would take their exercise entirely by proxy, watching the varsity teams practice but making no attempts at personal activity. After spending the allotted hours on class during the morning, it is certainly desirable that each man work into his afternoon schedule a time for exercise. And unless this period of exercise is included in the requirements for the freshmen, very few of them will form the altogether beneficial habit of regular physical activity of some sort.—The Far Heel.

ANOTHER ACTIVE CHORAL SOCIETY

From the "Mikado" of last year to "The Gondoliers" of this, thus, as distinctly "a step forward" for the Glee Club as from the old program to the "Mikado," and as such the University should be proud of an organization which has the vision and enthusiasm to undertake such a year's program. To make the production a success the Glee Club must have more active support from the students than it had last year: the directors this year cannot get along with a make-shift men's chorus and a last-minute cast; the "Mikado" was a success in spite of such drawbacks, but "The Gondoliers" is of sterner stuff.—The Manitoban.

THE SPIRIT OF PROGRESS

So it is. The few brave ones are ridiculed, slandered, and condemned. The world cannot understand the spirit of chivalry, and the only reward to be had is the satisfaction of an evil corrected. But, say we, more power to the few who don't care for ridicule, slander, or condemnation, but rush in, maybe like fools, but at least, not like cowards, to change things according to their own ideals.—Daily Trojan.

THE LAST AND HIGHEST HURDLE

In the student's race along the college track for the prize of a diploma the three sets of exams each year might well be considered as hurdles which must necessarily be cleared before the end of the course is reached. And as each one is cleared, it lies in the past and rises not up again as another obstacle—such is the system of three courses per quarter to be taken, completed and then—forgot.—Varsity.

Forty-Eight Hours Without Sight

My first sensation was of being scratched all over, not violently but uniformly irritating. I was then pounded on the back and very painfully branded with a secret symbol which gave me a bad burn as well as making me red and inflamed. But my strange experience were just starting for I was carried around bodily for several hours, and then heaved down a shute like a bag of coal: from then on everything I describe will be all by sound and feeling for I never saw the light of the sun again for night unto two days. I was powerless to shout or yell as my mouth had been gagged and tasted all sticky. At the bottom of the shute I was bundled into a sack and placed in a cart. I imagined for I heard the horses hoofs pawing the ground impatiently. After a few hours' journey, I was again hoisted up and placed down. I knew not where, but I was comfortable, except for my visionless view of nothing. Then a strange motion commenced, a feeling of rolling along quite smoothly except for frequent stops and pitching sideways. Till, at last, my first sensations were experienced again, only in the reverse order: that is to say, I was placed in a rig and trundled along for a short space of time, still sightless, and, having arrived at my destination I was un-bundled and thrown in a smaller bag, and carried around, this time for a shorter period; I was then shoved down a shute and there discovered by a beautiful, kind girl who untied my fetters and, may the Gods bless her, gave me back my priceless heritage, the use of my eyes. I remarked the expression on her features—it was one of contentment and anticipation for, you see, I was a letter, sealed with wax, that had journeyed from Montreal to Hamilton in order to bring a story and pleasure to a friend in that beautiful Ontario City. It was then, and only then, that I discovered the meaning of the insignia 1,2,3, which was placed by brand on my back and it immediately alleviated the pain for it was but a symbol of affection between the two friends and not the sign of a secret society. Really it was a pleasant experience though I was blind for forty-eight hours.

Signed 1,2,3.

LAW III MEETS AGAIN

A meeting of Law three was held again yesterday morning at an early hour. Thirteen resolutions were presented but all were rejected. It is expected that thirteen more will be presented this morning, but possibly the number will be increased to fourteen. At a late hour last night a search was made of all the taverns in Montreal and environs but the executive could not be found and therefore the rumor could not be verified.

A. D. P. Heeney, retiring president demanded a purse of gold but the class could not see it that way. Malcolm MacLennan intoned his first lecture in negotiable instruments. The Bank of Montreal has not yet been permitted to issue one dollar bills, but it is understood that the faculty will take the matter up in the near future.

BANDSMEN ATTENTION

Bandsmen are requested to report to the Union Ball room at 1.30 Saturday. They should be dressed in the usual uniform; namely white flannel trousers, sweaters, caps, black bow tie and black shoes.

Any men who have not received their sweaters and caps should come early Saturday afternoon and obtain same.

Trumpet players and snare drummers are urgently needed; bring your instruments and help make the band's initial appearance a success.

The snare drummers will meet Saturday at 1 o'clock for a short practice.

Soccer Team Gain Stride Against Champs

Defeat Athenia Crew Who Hold Ships' City Soccer Title.

SCORE 4-3

The McGill soccer season opened with a bang as the Red and White eleven scored a 4-3 victory over the team of the crew of the "Athenia". With the score against them at the beginning of the match, Hay Finlay's boys soon gained the lead and kept it until the end of the game.

The match was fast and furious from the start, nor did it slacken until the final whistle. There was little or no wind or sun to bother either team. The players of both clubs proved fine exponents of the sport and certainly provided the spectators with plenty of thrills.

It was very difficult to pick any outstanding player among the McGill Squad. They all worked like Trojans, and were kept on the move by the fast and scientific team they were opposing. Helwig, last year's captain, at full-back, proved a stone wall for the fast moving seamen, putting a heavy boot to many a ball that was too near the goal for safety and getting his head to several shots which the opposing wing centred. Doherty, at left half, was "all there" in blocking the inside and outside right, and in his forward.

The forward line Mollott, Gavin, Maule, Watt, and Violette gave an exhibition of what a well-trained forward line can do. Short, snappy passing on the part of the inside men and the centre forward, and perfect centres from the wings on the part of Mollott and Violette gave the seamen's defense plenty to worry about.

From the kick-off the Scots took possession of the ball, and went through for a goal, scoring one about a minute later. But the fact that they were one goal down did not worry the Redmen, for they got away to some good combination play, and their efforts were rewarded when "Al" Watt, inside right sent a fast one past Mitchell. Determined to get in the lead again, both teams set a hot pace.

Proven, the Blue and White right back showed up well on the defense, blocking many dangerous rushes and sending the ball far upfield, out of harm's way. The "Athenia" halves, time and again proved effective in breaking up the attacks of the new-passing McGill forwards. A few minutes before half time, Jack Maule put the Red eleven ahead by sending a fast one past Mitchell, after a scramble in front of the nets. But the Redmen did not retain the lead for very long, as MacFarlane, the Blue's centre forward equalized on a pass from Thompson.

In the second forty-five play was quite even, neither team seeming to have the advantage. After fifteen minutes of play, Tommy Gavin, diminutive skipper of the McGill eleven, put his team ahead again, scoring on a pass from Mollott. He repeated the performance a few moments later making everybody feel as if "it were all over but the shouting". But the seamen were still very dangerous and worried Helwig, and Giovanni a great deal, and scoring another goal just before the final whistle, which found both teams still going strong, the Blue and White outfit determined to equalize, and the home team refusing to let the game end in a draw.

With McKinnon, regular outside forward absent from the lineup Violette replaced him and Freddy Gamble, freshman player, was tried out at right half, at which position he acquitted himself favourably.

The second exhibition match of the season will take place next Saturday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, when the Red squad meet the Royal Victoria Hospital team on the campus.

McGill Squad In Shape For Initial Game

Senior Players in Last Stiff Workout Before Balmly Beach Game.

LINE-UP DOUBTFUL

The boys are ready. The last stiff workout before the McGill senior football squad take on their first opponents of the 1928 season was held last night at the stadium. Aided by powerful lights playing over the field and a whitewashed ball, the seniors were sent up against an ever-freshened group of intermediates and juniors until long after darkness had spread over the field. When the coach finally called it a day, the first-string men had scored so many touches against their lighter opponents that count had been lost of them. If the Balmly Beach squad is faced in the same frame of mind at the stadium tomorrow, the Canadian champions will be forced to their best to hold the red football machine.

It seems that Dave Munro was in earnest when he announced his intention of returning to McGill to take up a course leading to a Master of Arts degree. He was occupied yesterday in filling out his eligibility form, and although he will not be ready to play with the team in the exhibition on Saturday, he is almost sure to be on the McGill line when the red squad open up their intercollegiate schedule against Toronto's Varsity at the Queen City one week from tomorrow.

The return of Munro to the squad just about lifts a problem from the coach's mind. The snap position had been giving the mentors some difficulty. Both Altimas and Brown have been working at the position, but with the advent of Munro, who has seen a year of service in the centre of the line, it seems that the position will be filled to a nicety.

Doherty, who has been ailing for the past few days, reported yesterday in good shape, and the backfield man showed his customary speed in running back punts. His running mate on the backfield, Bill Lovering also made his appearance on the field, but was laid out in a scrimmage during the first few minutes of the practice. It took several minutes before he could recover.

Although no official line-up for the exhibition game Saturday with Balmly Beach has been given out, judging from the performances of the aspirants at practices during the week, the following will likely be used.

Halves, Tremblay, Lovering, Doherty, subs, Kritzweiser, Smythe, Flying Wing Urquhart, Quarter, Teskey, Snap, Altimas or Brown, Insides, Littlefield, and Maughan or H. Church, Middles, McTeer and Chick Church, Outsides, Young, Chard.

A light workout will be the procedure today, and Saturday should find all the men in the best of condition, Calisthenics under the direction of Mr. Burridge, and an hour's scrimmage every day for the past week has put the men in fine fettle for the opening match. With a few exceptions, injuries have been conspicuous by their absence at the stadium.

The Balmly Beach players come here with a reputation for being one of the heftiest as well as being one of the most skillful teams in the east. While they will not spot a lot of the weight to the McGill team, they should put the new red twelve to a stiff test. How the local players come through on Saturday afternoon, should give the fans a good idea on how the squad will fare in the intercollegiate union.

The timekeeper's story: And the game ended with a bang.

Keen Interest Will be Shown At Track Meet

Evenly Matched Teams From Both Fresh-Soph Years vie for Honors.

THIS AFTERNOON

The Stadium opens its gates this afternoon to the first official athletic competition of the season when the track and field aspirants of the Freshman and Sophomore years compete against one another.

This afternoon's events, the Freshman-Sophomore Track Meet, begins at two-thirty, and is primarily for the purpose of discovering any new material which has come to the university this year.

A remarkable feature of the list of entries is the fact that there are twenty freshmen and eighteen sophomores entered in the competition. In almost all former Fresh-Soph meets the first year men have greatly outnumbered the sophomores, but this year it is not the case. However, it is to be remembered that past entries will be accepted up until the start of each event, and it is hoped that the numerous track and field enthusiasts who have not already entered the meet will take advantage of this fact as this afternoon's meet promises to be one of the best on record.

Last year's freshmen now the sophomores won the meet by a considerable margin and with a strong and well-balanced team are expected to go far in the meet this year. The particular stars of the sophs are Fraser and Cameron in the sprints, Baker and Hutchins in the hurdles, Church in the discus, shot put and javelin, with Horn in the high and broad jumps.

The freshmen, although something of an unknown quantity, have a formidable array of talent in the persons of Drew, a former track captain at Amherst, and a star in the jumps and hurdles, Scarlett, a former sprinter of the crack Hamilton Collegiate, and Rice, a sprinter of some repute, who is entered for Medicine.

All athletes taking part will be excused from lectures without interfering with their allotted amount of cuts. The order of the different events may be seen from the program which follows. All those who are competing must be physically examined.

"THE MARTYRDOM OF MAN"

will be the title of McCabe's lecture in Montreal. Here is an opportunity of learning from this eminent scholar the character of our age, its progress, and its blunders and blunders; outlining the advance upon the five thousand years of political subjection, feudal service and ignorance; drawing a vivid picture of the titanic conflict of the nineteenth century; what we have won and what we have still to win; showing the colossal new wealth and knowledge created by science and the unjust distribution of same; pointing out the goal to be reached—Redistribution.

Truly a wonderful lecture. Worth going miles to hear.

Use It All Your Life

Scores of Parker Pens Have Been in Constant Service for 30 Years and More. See How We Guarantee the Duofold

Made with a jeweler's precision, Parker Duofolds are permanent pens—a feature of Parker Pens made 30 years ago also, not merely an advantage of the modern models.

Through Pressureless Touch, the feather-light weight of the Duofold itself is now sufficient to start immediate writing and continue it without pressure from the fingers. No effort. No fatigue.

Yet these pens are 28% lighter than rubber, and barrels are non-breakable.

They come to you in five flashing colours—modern efficiency in the modern style.

Then we add a "guarantee against all defects—to assure you lasting satisfaction.

So look for the imprint, "Geo. S. Parker — DUOFOLD," on the barrel to be sure you have a permanent pen.

Duofold Pencils, $3, $3.50 and $4, in colours to match Duofold Pens.

*The Parker Duofold Fountain Pen is made to give lifelong satisfaction. Any defective parts will be replaced without charge provided complete pen is sent to the factory with 12c for return postage and registration.
